

SACC Autotest Discipline Co-ordinator's Report March 2014

Five Clubs have submitted a total of eighteen Autotest dates for 2014. Unfortunately, four of the eighteen dates have two Clubs running an event on the same day which limits the ability of competitors to compete in both events.

The majority, (11) of the events scheduled will be Grass Autotests organised by East Ayrshire CC and South of Scotland CC.

Hopefully more Clubs will place their dates on the calendar before the season progresses much further.

All dates, Organising Clubs and venues can be found on the SACC Events Calendar page of the website.

East Ayrshire CC have indicated that the 2014 SACC Challenge Autotest will be held in August/September, but the date has still to be confirmed.

GMSC ran a dual permit Autotest at Knockhill in January, primarily for the Junior Ecosse Rally competitors to help them qualify for their 2014 Licence. However a few more senior individuals braved the elements and the winner was none other than Rory Bryant who was at Knockhill on a fact finding mission and was persuaded to enter. He even had to borrow one of the Junior Micras to compete!

As previously advised, the list of Autotest dates will be circulated to all clubs organising an event and will be updated during the year to include any late additions.
